

1000+

Number of highly qualified and experienced crews we currently have working with us around the world in every city!

Brazil

Focuses on the importance of connections and the ability to be flexible in any situation.

China

It is important to note that business types do not speak freely about negative opinion.

France

The French have a direct style of communication. Be prepared to skip any formalities or pre-business talk.

What You Need To Know

About

International Business Etiquette

USA

Having a firm, strong handshake while meeting eye to eye shows confidence and respect.

Israel

When handling business cards, be sure to use both hands because they are regarded as objects of importance.

Need to book a crew?

Crews Control represents crews all over the world!

Get a free quote at

www.crewscontrol.com/free-quote

UAE

Business dress is always formal when you are partnering with someone or conducting any business in UAE.

Italy

First impressions count! Being well dressed is a major plus for first time encounters with potential associates.

Japan

Be sure to use a formal and structured style of communication when in Japan. A subtle bow is a display of respect.

London

One of Crews Control's leading city in booked crews. It is important to remember that personal space is imperative in any business meeting.